

Road Salt and Quality

Starting this winter, the State of Connecticut is using 100% salt to melt snow and ice on roadways. You may now notice streets being white and dusty after roadways dry. This dust sticks to any water that is left on a vehicle driven after the wash process. The vehicle then has white spots that usually are heavy on the rear end. Sometimes the rear end will even look like it has not been washed.

We will re-wash your car for no cost and without question. We apologize for this problem.
